Shelly Schumacher Joins First Northern Bank's Roseville
Branch as Vice President/Business Services Officer

Shelly Schumacher
VP/Business Services Officer
First Northern Bank

First Northern Bank is pleased to announce that Shelly Schumacher has accepted the position of Vice President/Business Services Officer, serving the Roseville/Rocklin areas.

Shelly brings more than 30 years of exceptional lending, relationship management and training experience to First Northern Bank. Most recently, she served as Vice President/Training Officer for Umpqua Bank. Her banking experience includes training management positions at Western Sierra Bank and Washington Mutual in the Sacramento area, as well as executive account management at Home Savings of America in the East Bay. She began her banking career in 1982 at Wells Fargo. Shelly co-owns Minuteman Press in Roseville with her husband.

“Whether working with a personal or business client, I offer positive solutions to help them succeed, grow and thrive,” Shelly says. “I’m passionate about sharing my banking knowledge and experience with others. My greatest reward is seeing customers reach their goals and their business flourishing.”

Shelly was part of the Umpqua Bank training team honored in “Training Magazine” three years in a row as a Top 125 training organization; she was also selected to participate in the President’s Club. She was a three-time winner of the Frontline Award while at Washington Mutual. She was also named Associate of the Year.

Shelly attended Diablo Valley Junior College in Pleasant Hill. She is a member of the Rocklin and Roseville Chambers of Commerce and South Placer Rotary Club. Shelly also volunteers at First Tee of Greater Sacramento, Habitat for Humanity and Keaton Raphael Memorial. She is a former Brownie and Girl Scouts troop leader.

Shelly moved to Rocklin in 2000, where she lives with her husband, Doug; they have a grown daughter.
